JPJ Warns of Fake Job Ad using QR code

PUTRAJAYA: The Road Transport Department (JPJ) has advised the public to be wary of fake job ads with QR codes that have gone viral recently.

The department said it received complaints about the fake job ads that used the department's official logo.

"JPJ would like to stress that the ads are fake. The public is advised not to be deceived by such ads or unverified accounts to avoid any confusion or losses," it said in a statement yesterday.

It also recommended that the public refer to or reach out to the department for further information or inquiries, and to channel any official complaints through <https://jpp.spab.gov.my/>. - BERNAMA
